Deposition of Vice-President of American Tobacco Company in Suit at Raleigh.

noon the depositions of Secretary and Treasurer Hick, of the American Tobacco Company, were presented to the jury in the trial of the American Tobacco Company, the Wells-Whitehead Tobacco Company and W. M. Varter, involving $1,200,000 damages for trust methods, and contiff's business. The examinations were with a view to showing the domination of the tobacco business by the American Tobacco Company, and its practice, through this control of stock in all subsidiary corporations, to restrain and control business and stifle competition.

In a deposition by Vice-President Percival S. Hill, of the American Tobsoco Company, this afternoon, Hill declared that he wanted competition; that competitors increased the demand and found new customers; that he wrote a letter to W. M. Carter asking him to find the address of a car of cigarettes shipped by Ware-Kramer Company to China, and he could shut of that market from them; that the address; was secured, and the British-American Tobacco Company was notified, and the plaintiff never shipped any more cigarettes to China. He did not consider that competition, but "scalping the business." Hill's deposition reviews the absorption of the Wells-Whitehead Company to the Wells-Whitehead Company by the American Tobacco Company. Tevlews the amployment of W. M. Carter by the American Tobacco Company. Wells-Whitehead Company and finally by the Ware-Kramer Company. He reviewed the absorption of the tobacco corporations by the American Tobacco Company and set out that the company and set out that the company never purchased other tobacco corporations by the American Tobacco Company. An effort to settle the issues to go to the jury was a hone of contention for some time this forence, the out come being that Judge Conner took the whole matter under advisement until Saturday. The plaintiff presented fifteen issues that counsel insisted should go to the jury.
